ABSTRACT

A reservoir includes an orifice, a cover for closing the orifice and at least one blocking device for blocking the cover against opening in the event of excess pressure in the reservoir. The blocking device blocks the cover by a form fit.